Censorship by Taxation

Speech by Alex. H. Wasburn, Editor & Publisher, Hope
Star of Hope, at Arkansas Press Association Convention
Arkansas Press Association, Ark., June 1, 1960

Reprinted in pamphlet form, as shown by the illustration above, 4,800 copies of the speech which The Star's editor delivered before the Arkansas Press Association convention in Hot Springs June 3 have been distributed to newspaper executives from coast to coast. Here is the account to date:

Arkansas Press Association — 350 copies.
Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce — 2,000
Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, Chattanooga, Tenn. — 650
American Newspaper Publishers Association, New York City — 1,800

In addition to the speech the pamphlet carried the text of a resolution adopted by the Arkansas Press Association endorsing the Boggs bill, H. R. 7123, now before the House of Representatives.

In addition to distribution of the full text of the speech to the memberships of the above organization more than half the text was published by the organ of daily newspapers, Editor & Publisher, New York; and by the organ of weekly papers, the Publishers' Auxiliary, Chicago.

The Saturday Evening Post for June 25 devoted its lead editorial to the same subject matter. Here is the Post editorial:

Are We Moving Toward Censorship by Taxation?

What is a "legitimate business expense"? Wages and salaries, trips to business conventions, advertising, membership in unions and trade associations — such items and many others are conceded by the Internal Revenue Service to be deductible from income. However, when a company or an individual is threatened by a new law which could put him or it out of business, any money spent to defeat the proposed legislation is, according to the same authority, not deductible from income. The IRS ruling, which governs this situation, dates from December, 1959, and is substantially as follows:

"Expenditures . . . for the promotion or defeat of legislation . . . or for carrying on propaganda . . . to influence the public with respect to the desirability or undesirability of proposed legislation is not deductible as a business expense, even though the legislation may directly affect the taxpayer's business."

The intent of the ruling is underscored in a paragraph concerning dues to trade associations and other business organizations, conceivably including labor unions, as follows:

"Deduction will be allowed only for such portion of such dues and other payments as the taxpayer can clearly establish is attributable to activities other than those so specified."

In other words, any money spent by an employer to plug right-to-work laws — or by unions to oppose them — is not considered a legitimate expense, despite the obvious effect of the legislation on the taxpayer's interests. Advertising by public-utility companies designed to tell the story of private-enterprise power distribution in contrast to public ownership is not an admitted business expense, and presumably the same ruling applies to the efforts of publicly owned establishments to shill for their side of the argument — except that few of them pay income tax! As Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana puts it, "What is involved is punitive taxation on certain activities which are highly necessary to our sound democratic processes." It is clearly time for Congress to intervene.

Mr. Boggs has introduced in the House an amendment to the Internal Revenue code which would clarify the right of the citizen to speak in his own defense by stating that "expenses incurred in supporting or opposing or otherwise influencing legislation in the Congress or in a state legislature or other legislative body of a county or other local governmental agencies or in any submission of proposed legislation to the voters, shall be allowed as proper deductions from gross income." Rep. Noah Mason of Illinois hopes to add to the citizen's privileges by introducing a bill permitting the deduction of up to $1,000 of contributions to political campaigns.

But the sentiment is not all on the side of freedom. The House Ways and Means Committee, which has been considering the Boggs bill, also has custody of a bill introduced by Rep. Morgan Moulder of Missouri which would deny "any deduction for advertising which is not designed to promote the sale of goods or services." Mr. Moulder apparently would permit the citizen to sell his products, but not to attempt to protect himself from confiscatory legislation!

It ought not to take the members of Congress long to decide whether it wants to promote discussion of public issues and sanction the right of citizens to protect their own interests, or whether it wants to leave the Internal Revenue Service as the final judge of when an American should be permitted, as far as the tax laws are concerned, to exercise this right.

Dollarway Case Before U. S. Appeals Court

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The extent in which a school board may consider racial factors in application of state pupil assignment laws — if at all — is at issue today in a case before the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The question comes up in arguments on a consolidation of appeals in a dispute over desegregation of the rural Dollarway School district near Pine Bluff, Ark.

Much of the argument in written briefs centered on the school board's April statement of its desegregation policies. The policy statement was approved in federal district court at Little Rock. In it the board said it understood it may consider race a factor in making pupil assignments during a transition period.

The district court's approval of the statement was appealed in behalf of three teen-age Negroes who have been denied admission to the all-white Dollarway school.

The Dollarway board, in the statement, promised to consider admitting Negroes at the first-grade level next fall. It was not acted on applications made in behalf of three Negro pre-schoolers.

"The report does not contain any steps," said Richard T. Carter and George Howard, attorneys for the Negro pupils.

"The report does not contemplate a definite starting date or a period of time for the elimination of racial discrimination in the district."

The board said the length of the transition period cannot be determined at this time but that it "has made a conscientious effort to be as definite as possible under the circumstances."

"As we understand this court's opinion," the board said, "the board can constitutionally consider race as a factor in making assignments if the school district is in a transition period."

"By transition period, we understand this court and the Supreme Court of the United States to mean the period of adjustment to an operation free of unconstitutional discrimination on the basis of race, and not, as some apparently believe, the period required to mix races. Mixing may or may not result from the constitutional application of the assignment law, the regulations and the policy set forth."

One of the criteria set forth under the Arkansas assignment law — challenged by the Negroes — is "the psychological effect upon the pupil of attendance at a particular school."

Herschel Friday Jr. and Robert V. Light, both of Little Rock, argued a child could be injured psychologically by being thrust into a group of another race where he would be regarded as an unwelcome intruder.

Two Wrecks Reported on Weekend

Two accidents were investigated over the weekend by City and State Police.

Early Sunday morning an auto driven by Jerry Hollis went out of control and overturned in a ditch between Hope and Municipal Airport on the Washington road. Hollis was taken to a local hospital for treatment by a Herndon-Cornelius ambulance. His condition was not considered critical. Officers Ward and Pankey of the State Police investigated.

At Third and Laurel yesterday an auto driven by David M. Quarles of Hossford Rd. 2 collided with a truck driven by Arthur D. Faulk of Fort Worth, Texas. There was heavy damage to the car. City Officers Rowe and Shirley charged Quarles with driving while intoxicated.

Now Faces Charge of Jailbreaking

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — When Jimmy Ray Smith, 21, clambered down a makeshift rope of mattresses, he expected to be free from the Benton County jail. Instead, he found himself possibly facing jailbreak charges.

Within five minutes after Smith, of Gravette, crawled through the opening he had sawed in the second floor jail window last night, he was back in custody.

Sheriff Hugh Black, tipped the escape was planned, was waiting for Smith, along with Deputy Jack Allumbaugh and State Troopers Bob Jones, Jim Morgan and R.D. Arnold.

Smith was returned to jail in solitary confinement.

2 Candidates Formally Open Campaigns; Faubus Ignores Thrusts by His Opponents

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor, Gen. Bruce Bennett and Joe C. Hardin, unveiled their platforms over the weekend. Friday night Gov. Orval E. Faubus formally opens his campaign.

Faubus, now in Montana for the weekend, included pledges to "re-nationalize our state's peace and progress," to boost old age assistance, to cut auto license fees, to create a four-year term recreational areas in every county, to improve benefits for teachers and municipal employees, and to boost the state's road program, State Forestry Commission.

Hardin begins his formal campaigning tonight in a television appearance at which he will outline a 13-point platform pledged to keeping schools open, developing additional industry, promoting education, limiting a governor's terms, studying the tax structure and creating "a sound political climate."

Bennett's 10-point platform, offered in a Saturday night broadcast, included pledges to "store our state's peace and progress," to boost old age assistance, to cut auto license fees, to create a four-year term recreational areas in every county, to improve benefits for teachers and municipal employees, and to boost the state's road program, State Forestry Commission.

The weekend also brought opening of a Little Rock headquarters by Hal Millsap Jr., who said he is in the race to win and line a 13-point platform pledged to keeping schools open, developing additional industry, promoting education, limiting a governor's terms, studying the tax structure and creating "a sound political climate."

Far mers Told to Look Close for Weevils

Farmers in southwest Arkansas should be on the lookout during the next week for an increase in punctured squares in cotton because of the heavy emergence of overwintering boll weevils.

This advice comes from Extension Entomologist Grover Dowell in the cotton insect report for the week ending June 24.

There were 108 fields scouted in the southwest district with 7 having boll weevils and 9 bollworms.

Overwintering boll weevils continue to emerge. Live weevils per acre counts ranged from 100 to 300. Percent punctured squares ranged from 5 to 60 percent.

The average percent punctured squares was only 4 percent. However, this is somewhat misleading because all of the fields checked were not squaring and the live weevil count per acre was high. Most of the fields were 15 to 20 percent in flower.

Bollworm eggs were not present in the fields. However, larvae were present in the squares. Predators are extremely numerous in unsquaring fields and are taking care of the eggs.

No aphids or spider mites were recorded.

Dowell says to apply insecticidal control if live weevils are present in the field and percent square punctures is 50 percent when two medium size squares are present per plant.

Since resistance is widespread in this area, it is not practical to use the chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides. Carcinin at senate, the phosphates, and Sevin are recommended. If control is needed DDT should be added for bollworm control.

Eight young Negroes arrested last week for shoplifting were turned over to custody of their parents following a hearing Saturday in Juvenile Court. City police also report the theft of a tire and wheel from an auto on the Hair-Tree lot last weekend.

McClellan Going to Convention

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) plans to attend the Democratic presidential convention in Los Angeles, but not as a delegate from Arkansas.

McClellan said he turned down a chance to go as a delegate because, as he put it, he prefers to have complete freedom and maneuverability.

As convention time approaches, McClellan's view is that Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts will have the greatest strength of any of the candidates as the contest gets under way but "if he doesn't win on the first three ballots, he's through."

Beyond that McClellan was making no prediction.

Soviet Bloc Walks Out of Disarms Talks

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet bloc walked out of the 10-nation disarmament talks today. The Russians and their communist allies curiously ignored a new American plan for a world disarmament treaty.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valeriy Zorin and his colleagues charged the West had refused to negotiate. Zorin said the Soviet Union will place its new plan for "generally and complete disarmament" before the U.N. General Assembly.

Poland's Marian Naszkowski, chairman for the day, rejected all the Western delegates' demands to be heard and, after recognizing all the Soviet bloc delegations in turn, joined in the walkout.

The Western delegations decided to continue the meeting alone under the chairmanship of British Minister of State David Ormsby-Gore.

U.S. delegate Frederick M. Eaton then presented the new American disarmament plan, which was still under negotiation among the five Western delegations.

The plan, drafted by Eaton and State and Defense Department officials in Washington last week, provides for three carefully controlled stages of disarmament, beginning with the establishment of an international disarmament control organization under the United Nations.

Walking out with the Russians were the delegates of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Romania and Bulgaria. Remaining were the representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada.

Zorin's announcement brought an end to the conference which first opened on March 10 and recessed for six weeks before and after the abortive summit meeting in Paris.

The conference was set up with a senior division for those 14 years and older and a junior division for all under 14.

In the senior division there was a tie for first place. Eddie Byers of the Shover Springs 4-H Club and Jimmy Carver of the Deaton Club tied for first place honors. A written test will be given to see which of these 4-H Club members will represent Hempstead county in the state contest.

Ike to Talk to Nation on Recent Tour

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, back from a 23,000-mile goodwill tour of the Far East, tells the nation tonight why he reportedly considers it a big success despite cancellation of his Tokyo visit.

His speech from the White House at 6:30 p. m. EST will be carried nationwide by television and radio. Advance reports are that he will stress a belief the trip was valuable in strengthening U.S. ties with the countries he visited.

The chief executive returned to the capital Sunday exactly two weeks after setting out on the trip which took him to Alaska, the Philippines, Formosa, Korea and Hawaii.

He was to have visited Japan as the climax of his tour beginning June 19, but Premier Nobusuke Kishi withdrew the invitation when left-wing and Communist-led riot against a new U.S. Japanese security pact caused him to decide he could not guarantee the President's safety.

Stepping jauntily down the ramp from his jet airliner at Andrews Air Force Base, Eisenhower appeared tanned and rested after six days of golfing in Hawaii.

"How was your trip, Mr. President," a reporter asked.

"Oh, pretty good," Eisenhower replied.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter headed a group of officials and foreign diplomats who welcomed him home.

The President told Nixon and Herter he wanted to get the Cabinet together. They replied they would be ready to meet any time, but he said that first he must get some sleep. He had about 4 1/2 hours of sleep during the 10-hour flight from Hawaii, broken by one refueling stop at Travis Air Base in California.

Farmer Charged With Tax Evasion

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — C. H. Edkins, 60, a Stuttgart farm implement dealer, was among 5 of income tax evasion charges in U. S. District Court here yesterday.

An all-male jury found Edkins innocent on three counts of evasion involving a total of $13,252 in 1953, 1954 and 1955.

Edkins' attorney W. S. Miller Jr., said the income was omitted from Edkins' tax returns through errors by Edkins and his bookkeeper. He said the errors stemmed from a misunderstanding of tax laws and regulations.

Department Store Sales Increase

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Federal Reserve Bank in St. Louis reports that department store sales in the 8th Federal Reserve District last week were 9 per cent above the same week of 1959.

Sales ranged from a plus 22 in the Louisville area to minus one in the Little Rock area.

2 Candidates will wage a campaign "competitive in time, energy and ideas." Millsap, 38, the youngest of the five candidates, called his youth an asset. He has spent six weeks traveling through the state in a bus, but has been the quietest of the group.

H. B. Williams Saturday accused undefined "opposition" of conducting a whispering campaign that politics is "too dirty a game for a minister and college president to enter." A Baptist minister, is president of Southern Baptist College.

Yesterday Williams challenged "Famous" individuals involved in Communist front organizations which have operated in the Little Rock area. He cited a speech in which Famous was quoted as warning of left-wing infiltration. Williams charged the governor had insulated the Communists have infiltrated the ministry, and communications and educational fields, which Williams said was not true.

Hardin in a statement Saturday alleged that an unidentified Little Rock whiskey dealer with "heavy interest in wide-area gambling operations" was a heavy contributor to the Famous campaign.

He also asked for a "look into the distribution of Civil Defense funds and their ultimate use at the county level" citing a legislative audit showing a $300 deficit in state CD funds.

The two platforms dealt with many similar topics. On welfare, Bennett pledged a $10 boost in the maximum old-age grant while Hardin promised to provide all the funds the state can afford.

Bolt cited a need for additional stress on agricultural industry. Bennett proposed an agriculture division in the ATDC, while Hardin favored greater diversification of products and more use of farm goods in industry. Hardin also promised to work for greater industrial diversification and more investment by Arkansians in industry.

While Bennett proposals to move the state Labor Department back to the State Capitol, Hardin pledged support of a minimum wage law expected to be on the November ballot and "fair treatment of labor."

Hardin said: "I will not close the public schools. I will support local school boards in their attempts to live with problems presented by federal court orders."

He also renewed a vow to fight Amendment 52, to allow local option closing of schools to avoid integration, which will be on the November ballot.

Hardin and Bennett both favored increased teacher's salaries.

Hardin proposed a study committee to determine whether a second state college is needed, a reference to a controversial proposal to elevate Arkansas State College at Jonesboro to university status.

On highways, Bennett urged expansion of the rural road program, while Hardin promised "more adequate financial support."

"I will not play politics with the state's regulatory authority," Hardin said. He also proposed to effect economies in government, to support the University of Arkansas Medical Center in Little Rock and to encourage support of all state institutions.

On taxes, Hardin proposed a commission to study the tax structure "with a view to eliminating inequities." Bennett's platform suggested a flat 57 cent tax fee for cars and half-ton trucks.

Jealous Husband—
Fearful Wife

By HELEN WORDEN ERKINE

Sharon Zureher

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:
I am 21, have been married six years and have two children aged four and three. For the last 18 months I have been a wife, but only a student love my husband and more like a girl's friend. He is very jealous and accuses me of everything under the sun and has tried to kill me and the children. I am afraid to stay and afraid to leave. He says if I do, he will find me and kill me. I stayed on because of the children but wouldn't they be better off with one parent and be happy and have peace of mind? — Nervous Wife

Dear Nervous Wife: You can turn failure into success by recognizing the cause of your unhappiness. Marriage is a partnership. It is not a battle. It is a team effort. You must work together to solve your problems. For the majority it can only be achieved through education which is why parents counsel their youngsters to be done with school first, then marry. Those who do marry first are like kids trying to work problems in nuclear physics before mastering simple arithmetic. Those who are born thinkers can make a go of it. Others learn the hard way.

About all parents should do is state the pros and cons, and then depending upon the outcome, cheer from the sidelines or stand by to pick up the pieces.

Dear Helen Worden Erskine:
I am a member of a committee studying Teen-age Marriages. Can you help me?

In my grandmother's generation early marriages were common. Both my grandmothers married young. My father married young. Yet people today say that a teen-age marriage will not work out. Why? If the boy and girl are in love and if he is able to support a family, why shouldn't they marry? If they are mature, and want to marry, what holds them back? Parents say, "Oh, no, no! Not until you're out of school. Then you'll be more mature and better able to cope with the problems you're sure to have." Is there a set age at which to marry? Some mature earlier than others. Should they be held back from marriage? If so, why?

Cubs Jump on Pirates' Best for Two Wins

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Once in a great while a baseball game looks like a sure thing. A can't miss proposition like Ingemar Johansson over Floyd Patterson last week. Or Patterson over Lingo last year.

The sure thing was all ready for the picking Sunday, Pittsburgh, leading the National League, was playing Chicago, the last-place team. The Pirates had two of the best pitchers in the league going for them, Bob Friend (9-3) going into the doubleheader and Vern Law (11-2). The Cubs had lost nine straight. Just to put the lock on it, the games were to be played in Pittsburgh.

So what happened? The Cubs turned on the Pirates and beat them twice 7-6 and 7-5. Even the Pirates could afford to enjoy the irony of it all. Their league lead hardly was touched. Second-place Milwaukee also lost, bowing to Los Angeles 6-3 and third-place San Francisco also fell before Cincinnati 10-4. As a result Pittsburgh dropped only a half game and still leads by three full games.

The best pitching effort of the day was turned in by the Phillies' John Buzhardt who settled down after a shaky start and held St. Louis hitless for 9 2-3 innings of a 12-inning 3-2 victory. The Phils' Chris Short had a 3-1 lead going to the ninth of the second game only to have the Cards' Hal Smith hit his first homer of the year with two on for a 4-3 victory.

Baltimore recaptured first place in the American League with Chuck Radda and Jim Gentile showing the way to a 9-2 romp over Kansas City. New York split with Cleveland, winning the first 6-2 but dropping the second 7-6 in 11 innings. Falling one full game behind the Orioles, Chicago shaded Boston 4-3 and then bombed the Red Sox 21-7, sweeping their four-game series. Washington took two from Detroit 4-2 and 7-4.

The Cubs just barely made a 7-2 lead stand up in the ninth inning of the first game with the Pirates. Ernie Banks' run-scoring double off the left field scoreboard in the top of the ninth proved decisive. The Pirates came back with four in the last of the ninth, including a record-tying 11th pinch-hit homer by Smokey Burgess with a man on.

Rookie Ron Santo, just called in from Houston, delivered a double and single in the opener, driving in three runs and knocked in two more in the second game decision over Law. Mark Freeman and Seth Morehead were the Chicago winners.

Frank Howard, Los Angeles' storied rookie, hit two homers and knocked in four runs in the defeat of Milwaukee. Johnny Podres was in control as the Dodgers finished off Lew Burdette in three innings, snapping his five-game winning streak.

Bob Purkey gave up 11 hits, the most damaging a homer by Orlando Cepeda, but the Cincinnati sluggers bombed Jack Sanford and three successors for 12 hits, including a homer by Wally Post. Buzhardt gave up a run in the first inning and a lead-off homer to Joe Cunningham in the second. He didn't allow another hit until Stan Musial singled with two out in the 11th. Tony Gonzalez' homer won the opener in the 12th.

Gentile Leads Orioles to a Double Victory

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Gentile, a conditional purchase from Los Angeles last fall is showing the Baltimore Orioles how to take charge of the American League.

Gentile's seven runs batted in Sunday helped the Orioles regain first place by a one-game margin over the New York Yankees. His three hits in five at bats sent him into first place in the league batting race at .347 with a 10-point edge over Boston's Pete Runnel. The slugging first baseman is right up there in RBI too with 49, good for second place.

The former Dodger farmhand wasn't the whole show in Baltimore's success story. Chuck Radda, a young rookie right-hander, had a no-hitter going for seven innings and wound up with a two-hitter in the Orioles' 9-2 victory over Kansas City.

New York faltered after Whitey Ford had pitched the Yanks to a 6-2 first-game victory over Cleveland with a four-hitter.

Despite Roger Maris' two home runs the Cleveland Indians won the second 7-6 in 11 innings on an error by Maris. After the games, Jimmy Piersall, high strung Cleveland outfielder, was sent home for an indefinite rest.

The Chicago White Sox, awakening from their springtime slumbers, looked like defending champions once more in taking a pair from Boston, the first gently 4-3

Piersall Told to Take Rest by Physician

By BOB GREEN
BOSTON (AP) — Jim Piersall, Cleveland's high-strung outfielder, was told to take a rest to soothe his tangled nerves.
"It's a complete shock to me," the Cleveland firebrand said Sunday night. "I don't really understand it."
Piersall, who spent part of 1952 in a suburban Boston hospital after a nervous breakdown, said he had no idea when he may return to the team.
"I'll just wait until I hear from Mr. Lane (General Manager Frank Lane)," he said.
Dr. Don Kelly, the Indians' team physician, advised the rest after Piersall was ejected from Kelly said.

the second game of a double-header with the Yankees in Cleveland. Piersall left immediately and didn't know of the decision until he arrived in Boston to visit his family in suburban Newton.
"This was a big series," he said. "I always play hard against the Yankees."
He was thrown out of the game for disputing a call by Umpire Hank Soar after he unsuccessfully attempted to steal second base.
Jim has been at odds with umpires since early May. He has been arguing with opposing players and has a running verbal and sign battle going with the official scorer.
In one of his more widely publicized incidents, he threw a ball at the Chicago White Sox' (fancy scoreboard).
Dr. Kelly said he recommended Piersall be given the rest after observing the outfielder for some time. "He's very tired and losing weight, almost exhausted," Dr.

Palmer Is Winning the Canadian

By JOHN FARROW
PORTMARNOCK, Ireland (AP) — Arnold Palmer, who teamed with Sam Snead in winning the Canada Cup golf trophy for the United States, left for Scotland today with some new shots in his bag and hopes of adding the British Open to his American Open and Masters titles.
The Canada Cup tournament was decided Sunday over the 7,003-yard Portmarnock links on the edge of the Irish Sea, and it was a new experience to the La-Trobe, Pa., golfer.
"It's been entirely different playing this course," Palmer, 30, said.
"It's the first time I've played a course like this one. I've learned a lot of new shots — shots I've never played before in my life."
"I'm taking them with me to St. Andrews for the British Open," Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., passed up the century of the British Open starting July 4, because of business commitments at home.
Snead had the individual title in his pocket at the start of the last day of the four-day tournament. Then he blew to a 75 and Belgian socialite Flory van Donck slipped through and collected the crown.
Van Donck finished with a 68-71-70-70—279 for the four rounds. Then he nervously waited for 50 minutes while Snead completed his round.
Snead needed a 2 to win. He went out in 36 and looked likely to do it. Then he blew to a 39 on the last nine and the title belonged to the Belgian.
The United States took the team title with a total of 545; England, with second with 573; Australia third with 574; Ireland fourth with 575 and South Africa fifth with 578.
The Arkansas State hospital has received approval by Washington University and the U. S. Veterans Administration for the training of clinical psychologists at the hospital and this program has been started.
